我已明了。 我的人都死了。
除了我们，一个不剩。 我看得清清楚楚。

权力冲昏了我的头脑。
我失控了。忘记了我当初夺权的初衷。

我曾痴迷于权力， 但现在我明白了。

我再也不会 压迫我的人民了。

至少最后 这一句，我 知道是真的。

全球护卫队的旧月球基地。 现已被改造为
诺兰和麻比·格雷森的私人住所。

好吧，说真的…
这地方太酷了！ 我们得常来玩玩。

这真是太棒了！

我有时会忘记 你未在太空待过多长时间。 对我来说这就像家常便饭。
当然…这永远不会腻。

哇。

你还 记得我们那次约会吗？
我们坐在月球上。我甚至
觉得这地方当时还没建好…

嗯…当然记得。 我们该多那样 约会几次。

唔…
是啊。

是你告诉你妈妈
这个消息，还是 我来说？

有人吗?!

我回来了， 我的岩家族子民们!

地震博士
在此!

你们的 统治者回来了!

嗯?

啊啊啊啊!!

我知道他是你父亲...
但他也是一个 邪恶外星帝国的首领， 而且不久前他还想杀你， 过程中害死了几百人！

是啊， 但是...

...他是我爸。

这并不能弥补 其他的一切， 马克。

至少对 我来说不能。

如果你因为那事 恨我一辈子， 我能理解。

而且也 不应该能弥补。

不，听我说。
马克和我谈过这个。
你是个外星人，遵循着 不同的规则生活。

而且你正在 努力改变。

我尊重 这一点。

但据我所知，没准有个
维特鲁姆习俗是要 把婴儿从母亲肚子里 打出来放在试管里养大。

我向你保证， 绝对没有这种习俗。

谁准备好 吃饭了？

他确实改过自新了。我可以向你保证。

否则我们也不会在一起了。

我知道……这又不是我自从……你懂的，那事之后第一次见他。

但这屋我的孩子。我觉得我必须格外小心……确保……万无一失。

你明白吗？

我完全理解。

BATTLE BEAST! AND he gets sent on a mission to fight THRAGG?! Of all the things you've written for Ryan to draw that promises to be an ALL-TIMER. I mean, it is going to happen, right?! You wouldn't be setting us up, right?!

Uh... eventually! Stay tuned!

For now--LETTERS!

Dear Kirk Baby Fresh and Co,

1. I love this book so much and just can't get enough of it.

2. Can we maybe get a check in with Oliver some time soon? Pweaseeeee?

Anyway hugs and kisses,

Jack M

1. Awsome. Good to hear.
2. SOON. Hint: He's older.

Greetings Invincible crew!

I'm a longtime reader and this is the first I've ever written in to any comic. As an aspiring comic writer (who had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Kirkman at Image Expo!), I've always tried to pinpoint exactly what makes me love this series so much. The dynamic, clean and consistent lines of Ryan Ottley? The explosive and vibrant colors of John Rauch and colorists past (FCO!)? Or maybe it's just the sweet word-age of Robert Kirkman (Viltrumite sperm!)?

I think it's that last one! ;-)

And just the other day it hit me: Invincible is the ultimate Saturday morning cartoon of my young adult life. It's everything I love about super-heroes. Unique characters, an expansive mythology, art that conveys so much action and emotion..all delivered in an adventure/fantasy package that never takes itself too seriously. The addition of being a long-running creator owned comic with a consistent creative team is just icing on the cake. A true triumph.

I could go on about how much I love this book, how it's informed much of my early adult years and how many of my best friends, co-workers and family I've gotten to pick it up..but I'll just end by saying a genuine "Thank you". This book is very special and there are very few others like it. Keep doing what you're doing, guys.

See you next Saturday (er, Wednesday)

Geordi Galang

Favorite Saturday morning cartoons: X-Men, The Tick, Beetlejuice....and then somewhere further down the list is C.O.W.-boys of Moo Mesa.

Was Silverhawks on Saturday Morning? Thundarr? Anyway... what's up, Sean?! Are we just printing positive mail this issue? Yuck!

I've been reading your stuff for a long time, and I'm a great fan, very appreciative of your work and creativity.

Here we go again...

For some reason, I'm really late to the Invincible party and have fallen in love with this book as well. There's so many awesome characters for some other work you did such as Guardians, Brit, Wolfman etc. I want more, then some more...and after than more of this universe.

What would recommend I read once I finish catching up to where you are now in the regular Invincible title?

You should definitely check out GUARDING THE GLOBE Vol. 1 & 2, and the forthcoming INVINCIBLE UNIVERSE Vol. 1 (November!). And if you like Wolfman, there's four trades of ASTOUNDING WOLF-MAN to grab as well.

Thanks you for all your hard work and making my weekends a great time.

Cheers,
Paul Fortin

You could also purchase TECH JACKET Vol. 1, CAPES Vol. 1 and BRIT Vol. 1-3. They're all great!

Robert,

The cliffhanger, a little confusing. The plot - seen it before, probably, in issues #33 and 34. I think Image Comics guys can hang on too long really...you, Erik Larsen, even McFarlane. This is of course a mail about Invincible #104, for all your other readers. Say, how 'bout if all of Angstrom Levy's...flying eyes were to gain sentience, be installed in humanoid hosts, and spread out all over the world!!!? What..? That's what I would do if I were Levy and I was trying to conquer the world. Although, I guess he's not that bad now, huh?

Now we're talking! Andrew J. Shaw saves the day!

Back to before: Can you imagine if Erik Larsen were to put his unique and prolific talents to work on something else at Image other than Savage Dragon? Maybe start a new series from scratch?? Or better yet - You! Kirkman could do that; maybe just hire a new co-writer for Invincible, someone with new ideas and who can take up some of the slack! No, I don't mean me; the only thing I can write is letters. Someone like Andy Diggle! His Action Comics run dried up, Snapshot is done--! You know he had a movie made out of The Losers, right? Just checking.

This may be the most ice-cold letter you've ever written, Shaw.

Totally...

I wonder, and so I will ask, how does Skybound work??? Like with Ghosted, the new Williamson series out recently. Was that all your idea, or did you just loan him the Skybound label? And what, exactly, is the "Sky" "Bound" For? Glory, maybe? I'll leave you with that.

Josh created Ghosted 100%, just like David Schulner created Clone and Chris Dingess created Manifest Destiny. Other titles, like Thief of Thieves, have characters and concepts created by Robert, but then we hire writers like the aforementioned Andy Diggle to run with. It's not terribly complicated. We run "Created By" credits in all our issues.

Cheers (as in I'm watching the tv show right now; no, really),

Andrew J. Shaw

Good one, Shaw. Solid joke to wrap things up. Bravo.

I just read Invincible #104. Great issue! I feel like you maybe stole some story points from Nick Spencer's "The Infinite Vacation" but that's not really a complaint because that book rocked and if you're going to imitate, at least it's some great stuff.

"Stole?" "Imitate?" Not terribly impressed with your opening gambit, buddy...

Angstrom Levy has been around far longer than Infinite Vacation...

Anyway, about a year or so ago I had a thought: What if Kirkman's grand plan for Invincible is to slowly turn him from a hero to a villain, to show how that kind of change might happen, through gradual and believable character development? I don't think it's the kind of thing that's ever been done before -- at least not with aplomb. I loved Mark Waid's "Irredeemable," but that story started after the Plutonian had already gone bad. There's the Anakin/Vader story, but three two-hour prequels hardly qualifies as gradual, and the sloppy storytelling in the prequel trilogy hardly qualifies as believable character development. There are plenty of alternate-reality/What If/Elseworlds stories from the Big Two, but those usually amount to little more than a gimmick.

We've all just had our minds blown by Breaking Bad, haven't we?

Shortly after having that thought, I dismissed it, but every now and then when I'm reading "Invincible," that idea reasserts itself, and sometimes it almost seems as if you're dropping hints that we're moving in that direction. If you were able to pull it off, it would be a remarkable feat of comic book writing. It would also be a huge risk to essentially sacrifice a great superhero idea by turning him into a villain, but it's also the kind of ballsy move I can see you going for, especially since it's one of those things you can really only do with a creator-owned character. This kind of thing is never going to happen to a "main universe" Marvel or DC character.

Angstrom is pretty upfront in the issue about how often Invincible turns out to be a bad guy, or do bad things. So it's not an idea that's sneaking up on people as much as an idea that Mark will have to struggle with.

Exactly...

So I write this letter to say: If that's really your plan, go for it! I think it would be fantastic. Of course, I also know that if I'm right, this letter is never going to see print!

J. Klein

Next month,... well, is it too much to ask for more Battle Beast? And what the hell just happened to Doc Seismic?! Ryan Ottley, I love the way you draw weird...

And hey, while you're here, check out the preview of Skybound's newest title, Manifest Destiny!

-Sean Mackiewicz

Ryan's got PLENTY of weird to draw next month, too! Stay tuned! And thanks for reading. I'll try to pick up the slack for Andrew J. Shaw very soon. I don't want him to get bored.

-Robert Kirkman

23, May 1804. Set out early.
Expect to make La Charette within one or two days. Current has been mild.
Haven't seen sign of man (or creature) for over one week. We continue to carry out the public aspect of our mission.

This morning I saw a new sort of bird.

It was too high for a detailed sketch.

BAM!!

SHRRIP!

Clark assisted in obtaining the bird. I will present it with other samples.

I fear that birds, small game and Indians will be the only creatures we come across.

Expected to discover more exotic life and face fierce confrontation based on Pres. Jefferson's description of the mission. He insisted that the Corp would be tasked with destroying monsters and clearing the way for expansion of our United States. We have fought no monsters. Biggest obstacle so far is boredom.

The volunteer army doesn't seem to have a problem with it. Regular duties seem to be enough to fill their day. It's the others I'm concerned about.

The mercenaries. The convicts. They were brought in as expendable manpower for struggles that aren't occurring.

The devil seems to have sway over their idle hands. Jensen, one of those men Clark retrieved from the stockade, stole rum from the mess.

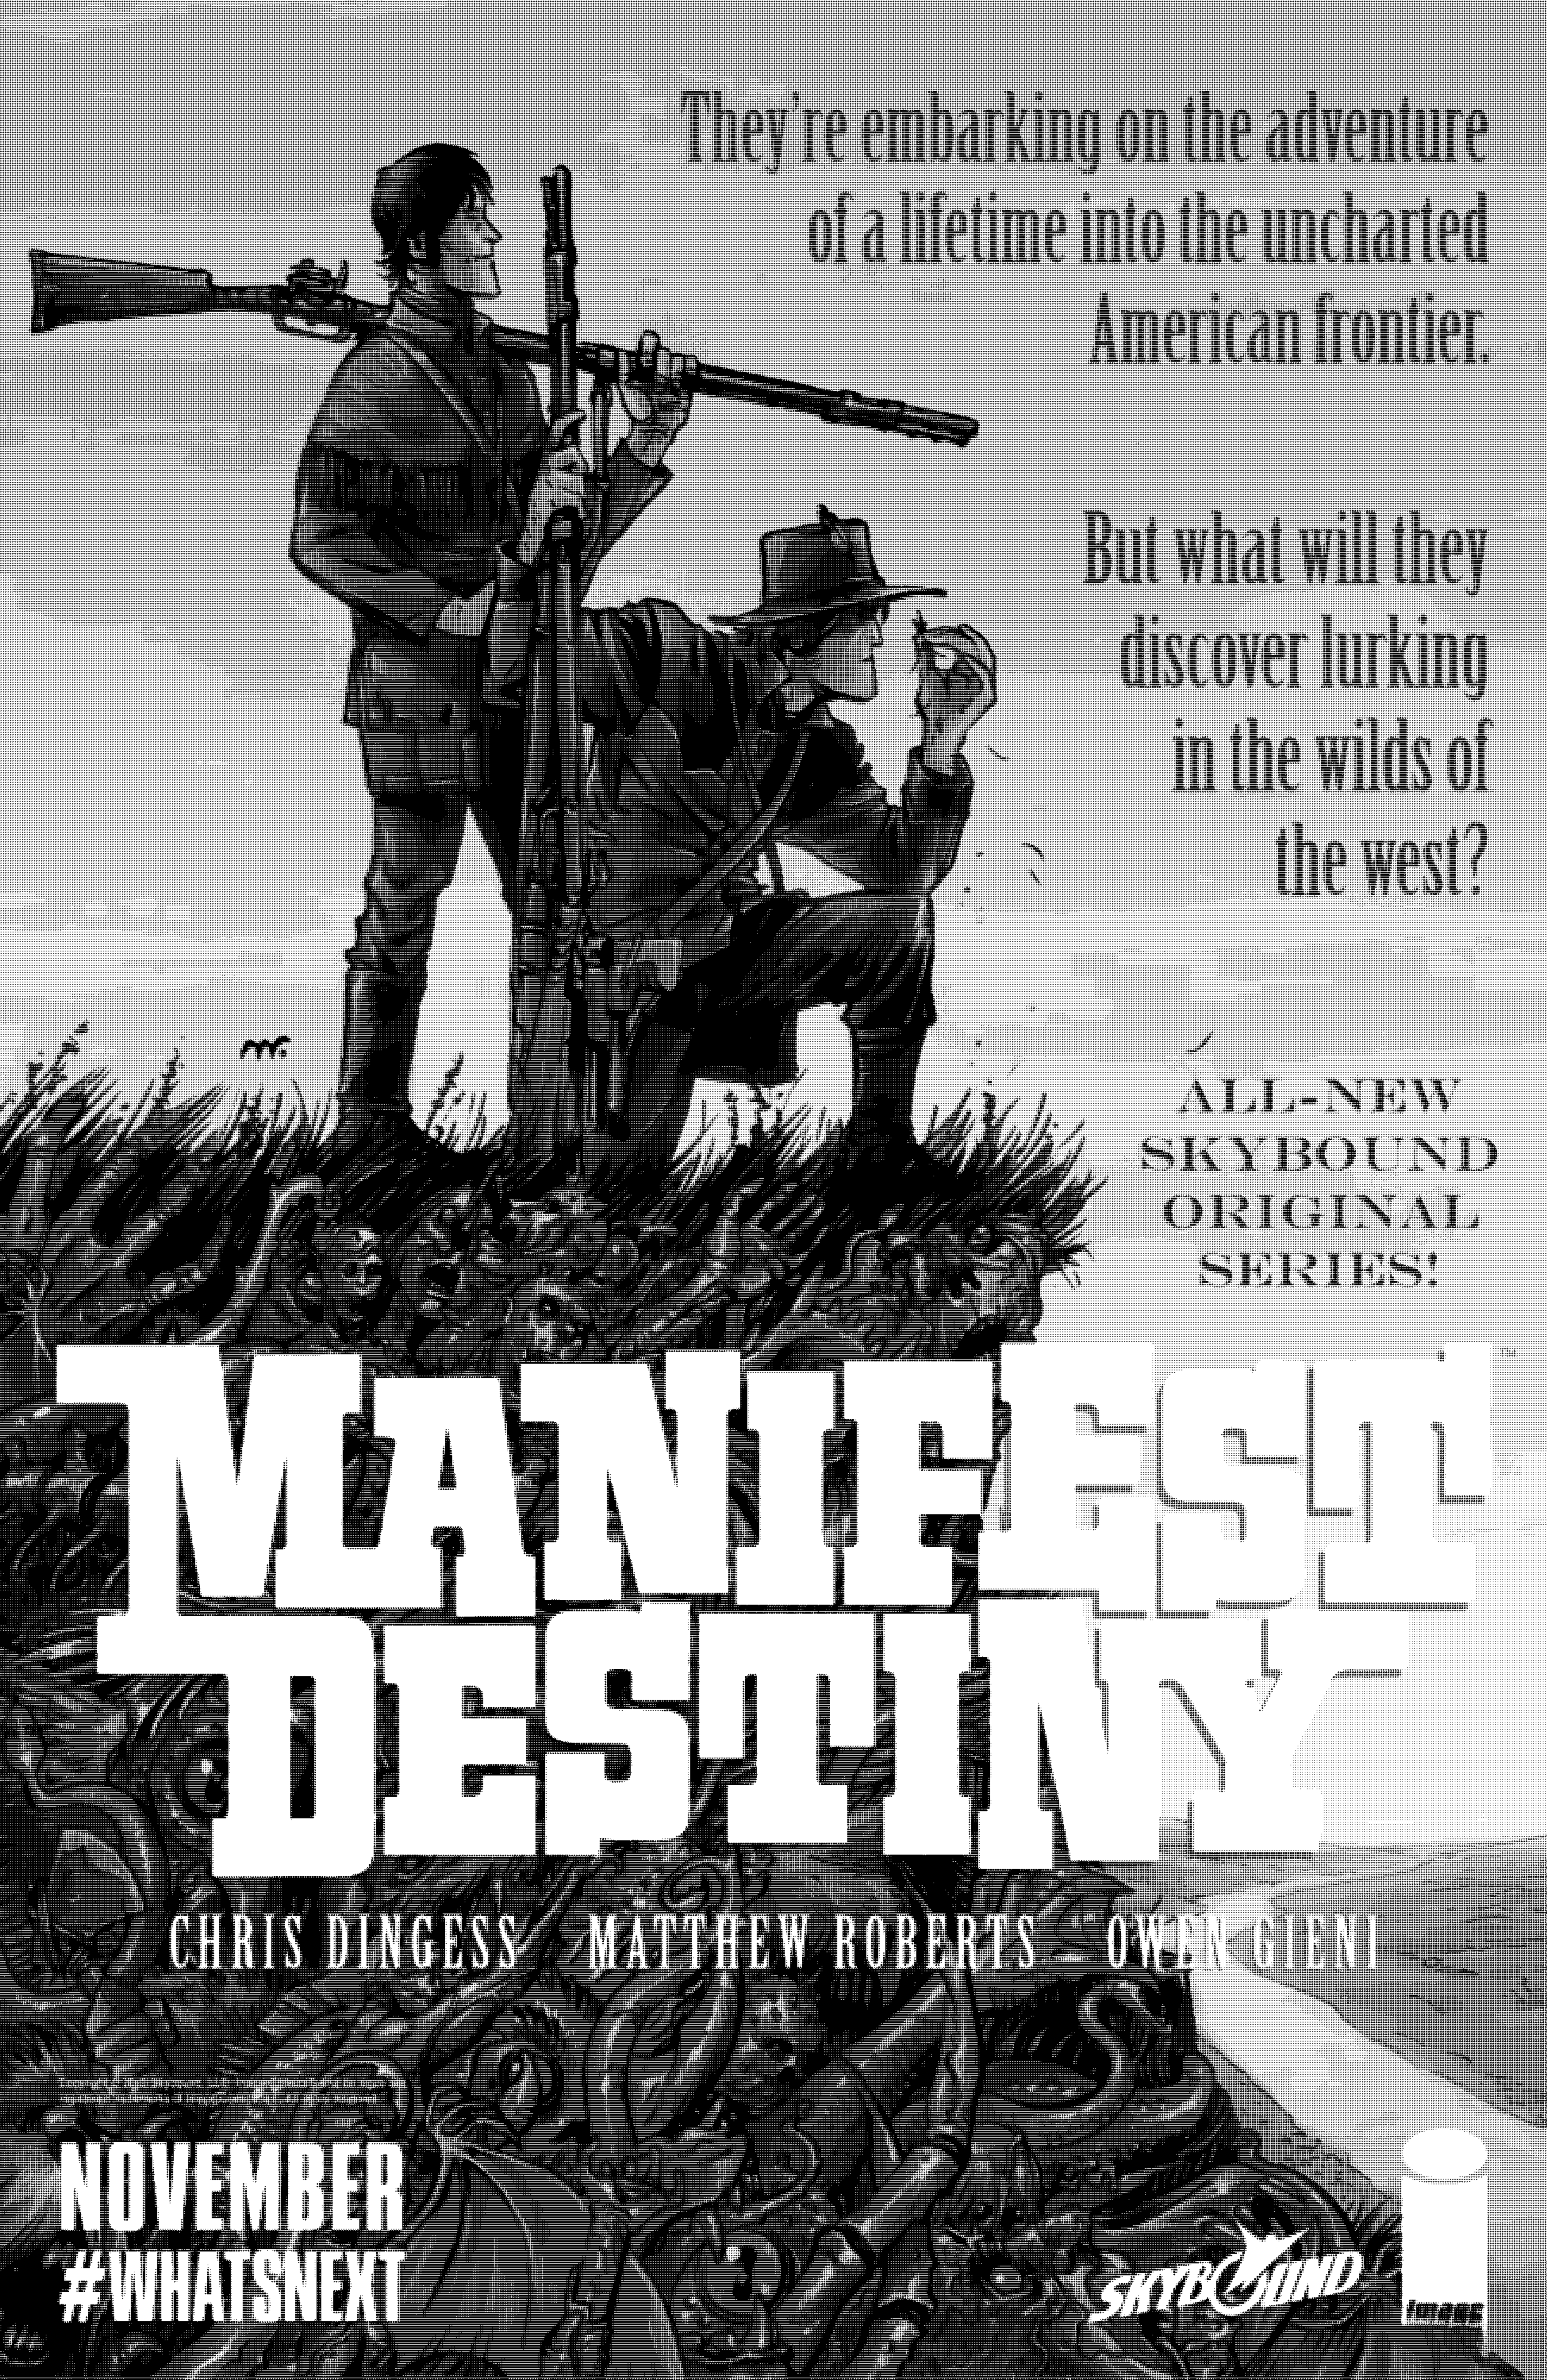

He was disciplined by Captain Clark. Twenty lashes.

THWACK!

NNGSHH!

At first, I had apprehensions about our decision to keep the men uninformed as to the real reason for the mission.

Now I am glad we didn't, or they might think us mad.

They're embarking on the adventure of a lifetime into the uncharted
American frontier.

But what will they discover lurking in the wilds of the west?
