大氣的身體和粗重的呼吸

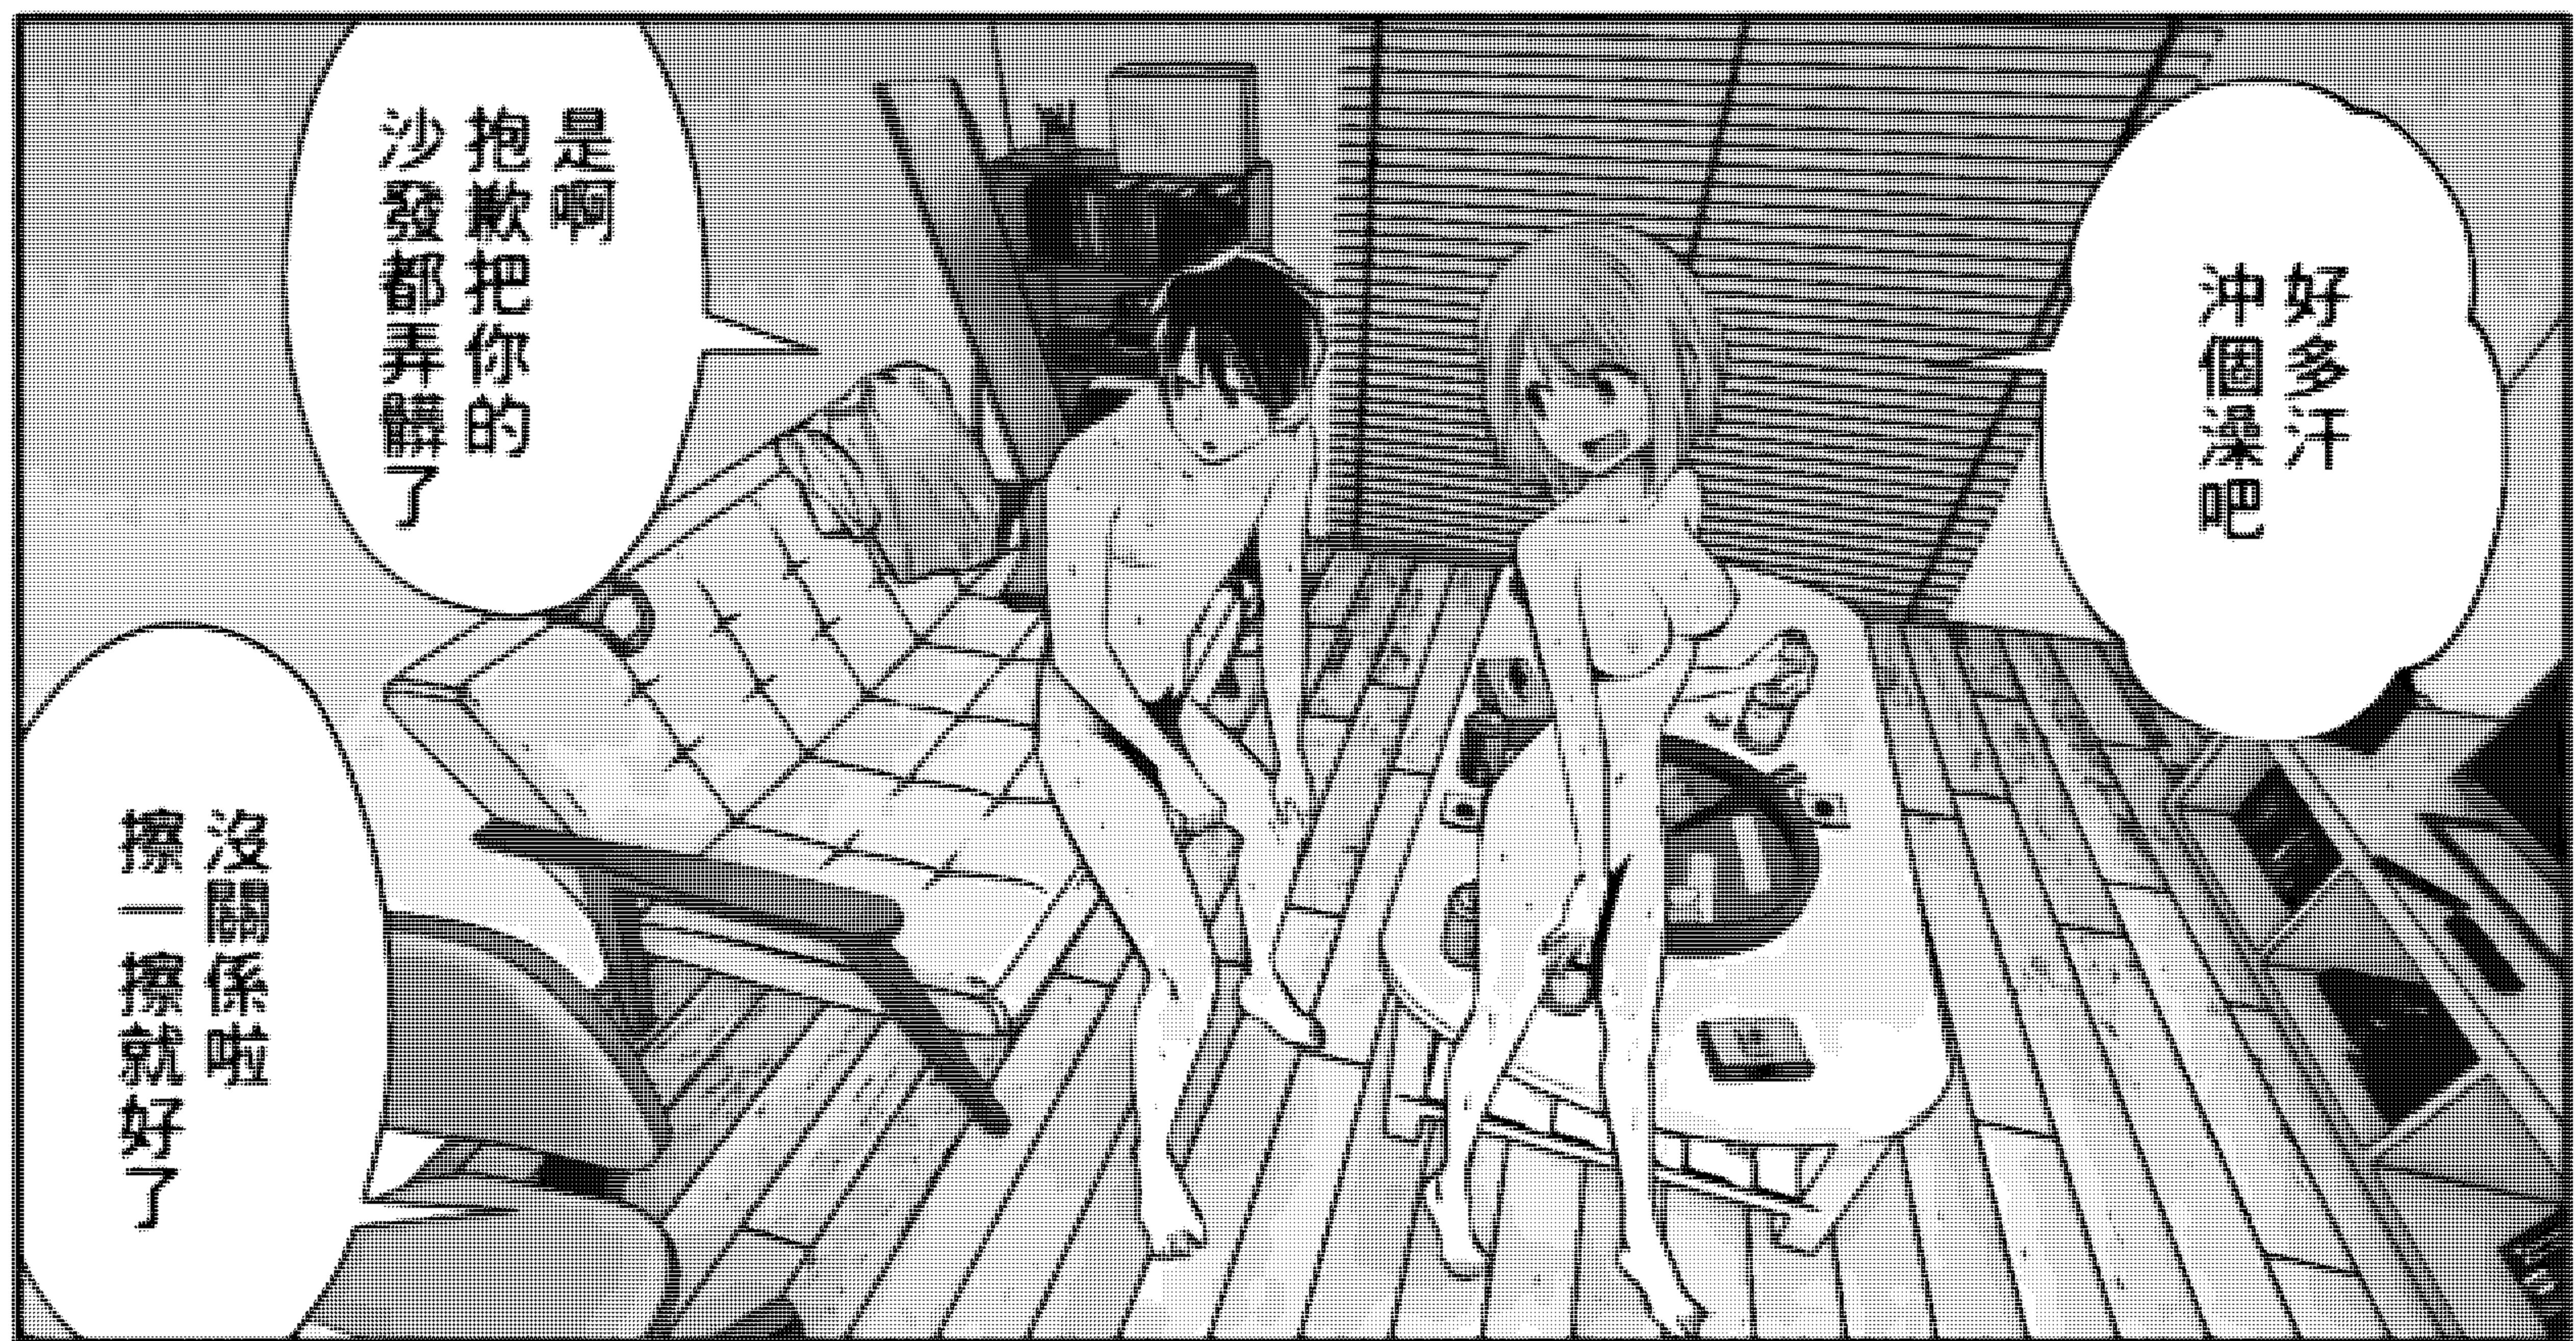

A high-contrast, black-and-white halftone photograph showing a group of people from behind, appearing to be marching or gathered in a public space. The individuals are represented by large, dark, circular shapes against a lighter background. The entire image is covered in a dense grid of black dots, characteristic of halftone printing, which obscures many of the finer details of the scene. The overall composition suggests a sense of movement or a large crowd.
